Until we hear more I think this is a good a plan as we have.

It is possible we may want to start with two teams right off if we are given the go ahead complete all sampling contained in the current Action Memo. So you might want to have a contingency plan to field another team on short notice.

Rupert,

I know you don't have any further information regarding if/when the sampling will occur, but I just wanted to check with you to see if our plan for the number of TechLaw personnel who will mobing is unchanged. Based upon our last agreed upon plan we are mobilizing 7 people (1 sample team, 1 sample management team, and the PM) on 1/18 and demobing on 1/28. Obviously everything can change but I want to ensure we initially are all on the same page regarding the planning of this event.

Thanks,
